How to get Black & Métis skin it's most radiant!

Do you find yourself asking how did she get her skin so radiant? I want that skin too! Well, here are the secrets!

By treating themselves to chemical peels, Microdermabrasion treatments and lightening products to improve their skin tone and quality of the skin and using sunscreen! The use of sunscreen with an SPF of 15 is an integral part to keeping your skin smooth and to avoid hyperpigmentation of your skin.

Avoiding steam baths and very hot showers are essential. This causes sensitive skin to dehydrate. So use lukewarm water and moisturize! The use of skin care such as moisturizing creams or lotions should be part of your daily skin care regimen and used morning and evenings.

One of the trade secrets to achieve radiant skin is by using a gommage (gentle exfoliating) at home. This home treatment guarantees you

Wanting to look younger?

"Photorejuvenation to freshen and enhance your skin tone!"
Photorejuvenation is a treatment that consists to eliminate the signs of aging linked to the negative effects of the sun and other genetic or vascular factors.

The ELOS technology is an effective and inoffensive treatment for the skin with very little discomfort for the patient. Areas which can be treated are the face, the neck, chest, hands and the arms which all benefit from the treatment of Photorejuvenation.

Eliminate those unwanted brown hyperpigmentation spots caused by the sun and aging! Red spots, spider veins and rosacea, including rough skin all improves after three treatments!
